to the high privilege of American citizenship. The Constitution, the abolition of the States, the destruction of the rights of local legislation, and of representation in Congress, the destruction of the States to operate under the guise of charity at an enormous expense, and a political system which has been organized, which it has wished to perpetuate its system of slavery, and the destruction of leagues of ignorant negroes, and has been the intellectual degradation of the Southern States of the right of self-determination, and the place in history over them, through the place in the negroes, lately slaves, who have been degraded, and the degradation of nature, nor by education, and it is made a system of degradation, gigantic defilement and gross crimes, and it is made a system of public degradation and persistently refused to be investigated and exposed; because it is a system of degradation, and the expenditures, which stands without a check in his hands, and the system of national bank currency; because it has a system of financial taxation and currency, and inaugurated thereby a system of legislation, which is a system of degradation, poor poorer, and because it is guilty of crimes and other crimes, and the system is not necessary to be rectified herein; view. That the great principles of defense of which we look upon having been so long a boast of our radical party, respectfully and urgently to the consideration of the national convention assembled in this city to restore the Union, and to secure to the known antecedents as will enable the States consistently with our action in the war to restore to the States their rights in the Union and in the control of their property, prosperity and glory of the American Republic.

We desire only an honorable participation in the achievement of that great victory of which it is to be the first fruits.

Mr. McQuade said he had understood the plans of New York proposed on Monday last, and that he was in favor of them.

He would suggest that the delegation at Union Square be met at 9:30 a. m. on Tuesday. He therefore moved that, when adjourn, they adjourn to meet at 9:30 a. m. on Tuesday.

Mr. Truxton suggested that it was a matter of course that the delegation should be as large as proper. Fifteen representatives would be a good number to join in the procession, but they need not do so.

Mr. McQuade thought they could march to meet the Newark delegation. This was the sentiment of the majority.

Committee on finance announced the following as the national executive committee: Chairman, Col. M. Shoemaker; Kentucky, C. D. Pennebaker; New Hampshire, Gen. J. Dolan; District of Columbia, Col. J. [CONTINUED ON FOURTH PAGE.]

EDMONTON, Ky., July 3, 1898.

Messrs. Editors: On last Wednesday, the first day of July, according to agreement, the convention was held to settle the claims of the candidates for Com-

At 1 o'clock the convention was called to order, and Mr. Jo. F. Ray was chosen temporary chairman, and Mr. W. B. Coker, of Hartsburg, Secretary.

On motion, a committee on permanent organization was appointed by each delegation, consisting of one from each county, viz: J. M. Brents, of Hart, W. S. Massey, of Monroe, E. R. Beauchamp, of Metcalfe, M. O. Allen, of Cumberland, C. B. Gray, of Clinton, M. S. Whistock of Green, H. C. Baker, of Adair, G. M. Muligan, of Allen, and C. L. Hill and M. Smith, of Barren, which committee reported as follows:

Resolved, That Travis Cockrill, of Barren, be appointed chairman of this convention, and W. B. Givens be appointed secretary, which resolution was unanimously agreed to.

On taking the chair Mr. Cockrill made a short speech, in which he said he wanted the co-operation of all Democrats present that he did not intend to make

A political speech, although one of the most important epochs was about taking place in American history. That the delegates were now assembling together in the city of New York for the purpose of overthrowing the Radical party, and thus saving the country from destruction.

Resolved, That the list of the counties reported be called in alphabetical order, and the chairman of each delegation cast the vote of his county, as agreed upon by the delegation.

The following nominations were then made, viz: John H. C. Sandridge, of BURKSVILLE: Jas. Garnett, 1; Adair, 1; Columbus, 1; Monroe Ave. Hart, 1; and Greshaw, 1. Glasgow. The name of Mr. Greshaw being withdrawn, the ball was then put, which resulted as follows (the counties being called alphabetically): Adair county—Ten for Garnett, Allen—6 for Adair, and 3 for Sandidge. Barren—3 10-30 for Adair, 4 32-34 for Garnett, and 5 and the remaining fraction for Sandidge. Clinton—3 for Sandidge. Cumberland—6 for Sandidge. Green—for Adair, Garnett 2, and Sandidge 3.

Hart—16 for Adair. Metcalfe—8 for Garnett. Monroe—4 for Sandidge. The vote being taken the second time, exceeded as before, in all the counties, except Barren, which gave Sandidge 62 votes, being a small gain.
The chairman, Mr. Garnett, being dropped, he being the hindmost man in the race, was then taken for ten minutes to trigger in, and you may guess that it was done. The convention being called to labor, the ballot was snared the third time, which resulted as follows: Adair county—9 for Adair and 1 for Sandidge. Allen—6 for Adair and 3 for Sandidge. Barren—Adair 6 and a fraction. Sandidge 7 7-37. Clinton—Sandidge 3. Cumberland—Sandidge 6. Green—Adair 3 3-4. Sandidge 6 1-4. Hart—Adair 16. Metcalfe—Sandidge 8. Munroe—Sandidge 4. Captain Gray and W. S. Buckner were then appointed to wait on Mr. Adair and inform him of his nomination.

to make a speech, to which he responded. He said that he was a Democrat, that he would vote for the New York nominee, and that all the Radicals ought to be sent up Salt river and closed by returning thanks.

Capt. Sandilidge then being called for made his appearance, and pressed his way through the crowd to near its center, where he said: Gentlemen, I reckon that I feel hardly as well, under the present state of circumstances, as my

The reason given for not voting for Judge T. T. Alexander is, that he was a Kinkaid man, and that Kinkaid men are no Democrats. Another objection to him is made by some of the rebels, that he belongs to the Northern wing of the Church. Whoever heard of such

Here is a man, every way qualified to fill the office of Circuit Court Judge, who has filled the office for the last term, a man of dignity, a man of learning, a man of judgement, to be beaten simply because he was a Kinkead Democrat and belongs to the Northern wing of the Church!

A lodge of the Good Templars was organized here yesterday. They pledged themselves to a total abstinence from The Revs. B. Davidson and Johnson have been conducting a protracted meeting in our town for the last week. Joe Rutledge and Riley passed through here last Wednesday, with their great success.

A good crop of wheat has been harvested; oats are good, but corn is small. The weather is dry. Times are dull and money is scarce.

Yours truly,

Mr. Longfellow, in his reply to address of the Carlisle literary society said: "Coming here as a stranger, the welcome makes me feel that I am not a stranger; for how can a man be a stranger in a country where he finds his doors and all hearts open to him? Besides, I myself am a Cumberland man. I was born in the county of Cumberland in the State of Maine—three thousand miles from here—and you all know the familiar name of a town or county has a home-like sound to all ears. And yet there is much strangeness in the new, when I come to the land of my fathers and find in it no trace of my family or name. If I am to find them all, it will not be in the streets of town or on the outside of the houses of the living, but in the grave-yards and on the doors of the dead."

favorite Cuvier, the naturalist, who favored pursuit very democratic in his tastes. He treated all men as his equals and would not allow others to treat him as their superior. One day, while discussing a question in anatomy with a young naturalist, the latter constantly interjected in his conversation: "Mon sieur le Baron." "There is no Baron here," replied Cuvier, "there are two students seeking the truth and bowing down only to her."

Paris contains about 2,000,000 people, living in 50,000 houses. London 3,000,000 and about 360,000 houses. The proportion of people to a house being five times larger in Paris than in the English capital. The London average is eight and the Paris average forty to each dwelling.
